Dear Jeremy,

Keep Rockland Beautiful is pleased to have Rockland Economic Development Corporation partner with us, Lamont-Doherty Observatory of Columbia University and Rockland Conservation & Service Corps for the 2018 Rockland Planning Land Use with Students (RPLUS) symposium.

The enclosed $1,500 grant is a program-related investment to REDC for work related to the planning and implementation of the day's activities. This grant will help to establish a collaboration of services and support that will be used to perpetuate and enrich our respective non-profit missions (i.e., improving the quality of life in Rockland County) by cultivating the links between education and business through local project case study research and application.

In addition, it will help increase economic development awareness to area high school students and produce cross-promotional branding through placement on outreach materials and advertising. Working together will help to solidify our shared commitment to helping shape a prosperous and sustainable economic future.

Sincerely,

Sonia Cairo
